Good morning

The picture this week is a macro shot of rain drops on moss growing on the garage roof. I had never appreciated that the moss stems twist, you can see it in the centre of the image and how the raindrops are held on the stems.

Did you have a moment to look at the Tom Hiscocks sculptures? Do you have a favourite? I think mine is Two Circles II, in Public Art section.

If you are enjoying The Monday Picture please share it with your friends, this is the link they can use to sign up.

Until next Monday have a great week

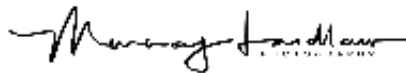

Very best wishes,
