

Click to enlarge

Good morning {firstname},
Welcome to Aldeburgh on the Suffolk coast, a wide expanse of gravel beach leading down to the sea. I'm not sure whether this boat is still seaworthy but I thought it made an interesting image with the deep blue sky and clouds contrasting against the multicoloured gravel. The boat is probably eight to ten feet above the waterline as the beach drops away from this level quite dramatically. Aldeburgh still has a fishing community with some of the catch being sold directly from sheds along the edge of the beach. We will return to Aldeburgh in a future edition.

This image is available to buy on the website

Until next Monday have a great week.
Murray
murraylaidlaw.com

In
The Journal
...
Triptych images

*the Monday
Picture*