Good morning,

Having said that I wasn't a landscape photographer...

This week I have chosen a cityscape image that I took on my walk from Monument tube and St Dunstan in the East church garden. This is the view looking down St Mary at Hill from Eastcheap, it would be easy to walk straight past and miss it as you navigate your way along this busy thoroughfare.

Did you notice that the clock is no longer at 90 degrees to the building (firstname) ? It's easy to miss with the Shard rising in the distance and although it doesn't look far, it's a good half a mile away on the other side of the Thames. This image is available to buy on the website.

In The Journal this week an article about Tagsmart who as an independent organisation produce my Certificates of Authenticity. I believe that they offer my clients the highest level of reassurance and security available when purchasing a Limited Edition print. Click the link below to learn more.
